

Meet our Librarian

Sandra C. Baldonado, MLIS, Library and Information Science

Baldonado is a library professional focused on Adult Services, Volunteer Engagement, and Lifelong Learning.

Baldonado has been a member of the Corrales Community Library since the 90's when she would frequently visit with her family. She began serving the Corrales Community Library as a volunteer in 2000 and was hired by the Village of Corrales in 2008.

Since she became a librarian at the Corrales Community Library she has established and maintained several new Adult Programs such as the Saturday Stitch Club, the popular and creative Lifelong Learning Programs and, after community assessment, the Conversational Spanish Group, Café a las Seis.

Baldonado attained her Master of Library and Information Science degree from San Jose University, is a member of the American Library Association, New Mexico Library Association, International Library and Information Studies Honor Society, New Mexico Gourd Society, Las Arañas Spinners and Weavers Guild and a certified tutor with Read West Literacy. Baldonado holds a Librarian's Certificate Grade II from the State of New Mexico, Paralegal Certification and is trained in early childhood Montessori education.

Prior to a career in Library Science, Baldonado worked as a small business owner, mediator, and educator.

"Our library does more than provide resources and education. It also provides opportunities for people to come together through volunteering and lifelong learning, creating a sense of friendship, ownership and belonging.

The Corrales Community Library enables the golden thread of community to connect with the past and into the future." ~Sandra
